

HEAD STUDY: Headache in Emergency Departments

We are collecting information about headaches in this department.

This is part of a large research study around the world, trying to understand the differences between how headaches feel and the differences between investigations and treatments for headache around the world.

If you are in the Emergency Department today with a headache, then staff will provide you with more information.

If you do not want your information used in this study, then it is easy to opt-out. Either: Speak to your nurse or doctor

Email:

Call:

Speak to reception staff

More information @rcemlearning.co.uk/tern-layout/

Version 1.4 24/5/2019 IRAS: 258618